

How do universities ensure quality teaching online?

Moving teaching online is more than just a switch to Zoom or Microsoft Teams. Together with the change of delivery platform, universities have to consider the pedagogy, methods, tools and models of online teaching in order to maximise the effect of virtual learning environment. How can universities ensure the quality to achieve satisfactory results for students and academic staff in regard to a new model of teaching? Join us in this interactive session and find out more from the experience of universities and quality assurance agencies.

Speakers:

Douglas Blackstock – Chief Executive, QAA

Prof. Muzaffer Elmas – President, Turkish Higher Education Quality Council

Prof. Diana Laurillard – Professor, UCL Institute of Education

Irma Grdzeldze – Head of Quality Assurance Office, Ivane Javakhishvili Tbilisi State University, Georgia

Registration link: <https://bit.ly/2WLTyBw>