

Dear colleagues,

Dear Ms. Karlova, Program coordinator of National Erasmus+ office in Armenia

Before I start my speech let me take this opportunity and welcome all of you in Armenia and at Armenian State University of Economics in particular.

I hope you enjoyed the trip yesterday and have very positive impressions about Armenia. In coming days as well ASUE staff will do its best to make your visit to Armenia and ASUE more productive and memorable.

Since 2014 when the launch of Erasmus+ was given Armenian State University of Economics is actively involved in different actions of the project. It is an honor for me to mention that ASUE is enhancing its involvement in the exchange programs in all levels of exchange- faculty, students and administrative staff.

In due time we do our best to enlarge the geography of the university we collaborate and create new opportunities of exchange for our outgoing, as well as incoming colleagues and students. The initiation of this event is also witness of the fact that we do our best to organize implementation of the projects and cooperations smoothly.

I do hope that we will have the chance of hosting also your university students during the coming academic year. They will leave Armenia with new skills and knowledge, as well rich impressions.

Let me once again welcome all of you at Armenian State University of Economics and wish you a very productive and fruitful week ahead.
